Company Overview

Lap of Love Veterinary Hospice is a nationwide network of doctors who have dedicated their careers exclusively to veterinary hospice and euthanasia services. We believe that all pets, and the people who love them, deserve the most compassionate and supportive end-of-life experience that veterinary medicine has to offer. Our doctors offer quality-of-life assessments, pain and anxiety management, end-of-life consultations, and peaceful euthanasia in the comfort of the pet's favorite place—home.

Our Philosophy

We consider the human aspect of a pet's end-of-life care just as important as the medical aspect. Lap of Love doctors know that discussing when to say goodbye is the most important conversation a veterinarian ever has with a family. Our veterinarians offer compassionate, open-minded guidance to pet parents who are deciding when, how, and why to either euthanize or continue medical management for their pet. Our group's philosophy centers around the human-animal bond and the need for that bond to be as undisturbed as possible during this most difficult time.

Industry Pioneers

Founded by Dani McVety, DVM and Mary Gardner, DVM, Lap of Love has revolutionized the care of geriatric pets, the end-stage management of terminal illnesses, and the handling of euthanasia in the veterinary space. By perfecting the veterinary hospice concept and proactively bringing euthanasia into the home, we are transforming end of life care from a minute percentage of practice into its own industry.

As the pioneers in end-of-life care, we seek to actively educate and share our vast reserves of knowledge with other veterinary professionals and pre-professionals, providing critical information that is not taught in veterinary schools. This has substantially contributed to the growth of a new culture of veterinarians, doctors who are learning to treat death not as a failure of medicine, but as the natural progression of biology.

Fact Sheet

At a Glance:

Year founded: 2009	Total veterinarians: 280+
Founder: Dani McVety, DVM	Total support staff: 225+
Co-Founder: Mary Gardner, DVM	Total areas served: 100+ areas in 36 states across the US
Headquarters: Tampa, FL

- Dr. Dani McVety started Lap of Love three months after graduating from veterinary school as a way to pay back school loans while she was working in emergency medicine. Her inspiration began with a love of people combined with volunteer work for human hospice.
- Mary Gardner, DVM, joined Lap of Love in 2010 as the company's co-founder with almost a decade of experience in software design before becoming a veterinarian. She led the development of the company's proprietary practice management software.
- Lap of Love offers hospice care (which includes quality-of-life assessment, pain and anxiety management, and end-of-life consultation), and peaceful euthanasia, all in the comfort of the pet's favorite place—home. We also offer teleadvice and pet loss support services.
- Lap of Love was modeled after human hospice. Our veterinarians focus on palliative and pain management, not on curing a pet's disease.
- Since Lap of Love's inception, our veterinarians have helped over 400,000 pets and their families.
- Lap of Love has experienced significant growth since its inception in 2009.

In 2021 alone:

- Our veterinarians helped 105,000+ pets and their families.
- Our care coordinators engaged in 515,000+ conversations with families, at an average of 14 minutes per call.
- We delivered 130 hours of end-of-life education and gave 40 presentations at veterinary schools across the country.

Origin of Our Name

While preparing a family for a euthanasia late one night at an emergency clinic, the client looked up at Dr. Dani McVety and said “Please, can you leave her on my lap, instead of that cold, sterile table?” Only a few months out of vet school, Dr. Dani had been taught to take pets to the “treatment area” in the back of the clinic to begin the euthanasia process. But the pet parent’s request was too powerful, too meaningful for Dr. Dani to refuse. With some quick improvising, she gave the little Chihuahua a peaceful passing in the comfort of her mom’s lap. At that moment, Dr. Dani realized that every pet deserved a dignified experience where they feel comfortable and safe—in their parent’s lap.

Shortly after, Lap of Love Veterinary Hospice was born in Tampa, Florida, growing from a fulfilling, part-time project to pay back Dr. Dani’s student loans into a passion for pets, their people, and the doctors who care for them.

Today, Lap of Love is one of the most respected networks of doctors in the veterinary profession, setting the standard for end-of-life care higher than it has ever been before.

What Makes Us Unique

Our Services

Lap of Love exclusively offers in-home, end-of-life veterinary care services. These include:

- Peaceful, dignified euthanasia
- Veterinary hospice
- Teleadvice

We also provide quality-of-life assessments, pain and anxiety management, end-of-life consultations, and pet loss support services. Our veterinarians offer compassionate, open-minded guidance to pet parents who are deciding when, how, and why to either euthanize or continue medical management for their pet. A peaceful end-of-life experience best supports the comfort of the patient, allows the clients to navigate their grief without the burden of guilt, and provides the most supportive environment for doctors. These benefits culminate to unparalleled patient care and promotion of the human-animal bond.

Our Doctors

When hiring, Lap of Love specifically seeks empathetic veterinarians who provide clients with gentle guidance and genuine compassion instead of narrow-minded judgment. Any veterinarian who chooses to dedicate his or her life to the practice of veterinary hospice and euthanasia is incredibly special. It's not an easy role to play in our society, and when asked why we do this, our response is always: "Because it is an honor."

Lap of Love Founders

Dani McVety, DVM Founder and Chief Executive Officer

Veterinarian | Entrepreneur | Speaker | Author | TV Host

Dr. Dani McVety has a deep love for the human-animal bond. After graduating from veterinary school, she practiced emergency medicine and gained a greater understanding of how to help families at a time in which they felt the most helpless.

Already an accomplished entrepreneur before vet school graduation, Dr. McVety partnered with Dr. Mary Gardner one year after founding Lap of Love. Dr. McVety frequently writes and speaks for professional and lay audiences on end-of-life veterinary topics. As a certified body language instructor, one of her favorite topics is communication.

Dr. McVety is the youngest recipient of the University of Florida's Distinguished Young Alumni Award (2013) and the Florida Veterinary Medical Association's President's Award (2014). She also won Pet Industry Woman of the Year (2016).

Mary Gardner, DVM Co-Founder and Chief Innovation Officer

Veterinarian | Speaker | Entrepreneur | Author | Inventor

Dr. Mary Gardner spent a decade in software design before completing her Doctorate of Veterinary Medicine. She worked in general practice for two years before joining Dr. Dani McVety as the co-founder of Lap of Love Veterinary Hospice in 2010.

Combining her software experience with her knowledge of the veterinary industry, Dr. Gardner led the development of Lap of Love's proprietary practice management software, which is specific for veterinary hospice and euthanasia services.

Dr. Gardner writes and speaks for professional and lay audiences on all aspects of end-of-life care, including veterinary hospice and euthanasia. She is a frequent speaker at veterinary industry events, professional sales meetings, veterinary schools, and animal hospitals around the country. Dr. Gardner won the 2020 VMX Small Animal Medicine Speaker of the Year. In 2022, she published a book for pet owners who are caring for geriatric dogs and will release her book on cats in fall 2022.
